PUBLICATIONSBOOKS

- 2020 Cole, E. R. The Campus Color Line: College Presidents and the Struggle for Black Freedom. Princeton, NJ: Princeton University Press.
- Kirkus Reviews: “A convincing argument that university presidents were a driving force behind racial changes and initiatives.”
- Library Journal: “This extensively researched, well-written examination of racism, integration, and violence in the postsecondary environment is a major contribution to the field of higher education.”
- Choice Reviews: “The Campus Color Line is enlightening for advanced students and scholars interested in the study of higher education history.”
- Harvard Educational Review: “Cole artfully makes the case that higher education played a central role in shaping one of the most significant social movements in American history. . . . The Campus Color Line is essential. . . because it challenges those of us in higher education, both educators and administrators, to be mindful of our actions and, above all else, to do more.”
- Teachers College Record: “Cole’s ability to connect college presidential challenges, racial turmoil, and political climate make this work groundbreaking.”
- Journal of College Student Development: “Cole’s book is a testament to the difficulty of these challenges faced by leaders, and it offers a guide for how to overcome them—if a leader knows how to pay close attention to our past and aims not to repeat the mistakes in the future.”
- International Social Science Review: “The Campus Color Line should be required reading for academics or anyone interested in how issues of racial justice became enmeshed in higher education.”
